Illusions of Grandeur

Vicky Calver

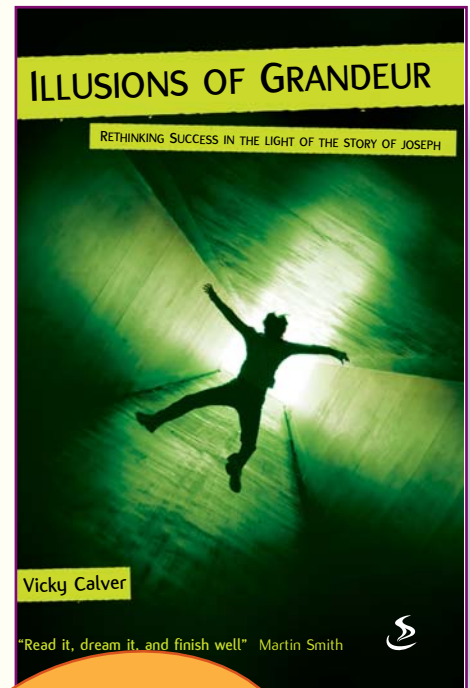

Key Selling Points

- A frank assessment of the struggle between the call of God on our lives and the way life actually turns out
- An honest approach to success for young adults, based on the biblical story of Joseph
- True life stories and references to contemporary films add interest
- Especially relevant to people facing transition
- Explores questions such as:
is it OK for Christians to be ambitious?
what is real success?
what happens when dreams and real life clash?
- An up-to-date exploration of a key issue by a British author
- Author's father Clive and brother Gavin are both best-selling authors
